1. "Dylan! Why haven't you gone to bed yet? You have to wake up early for school tomorrow!"

"Yes, Mum," Dylan muttered. "I'll be going soon."

When Dylan finally looked at the clock, he could not believe his eyes. It was already three o'clock in the morning! He quickly turned off everything and went to bed.

The next morning, Dylan was still groggy when he reached school. "Class, get ready for the quiz," announced Mr Ng. Dylan sat up in a panic. He had been so caught up in his game the previous night that he had completely forgotten about it!

2. “Look Ron, look at what my parents have bought for me!” Calista shoved something in front of Ron’s face. Glancing up from his textbook, Ron realised that it was an iPhone.

“That’s great, Calista,” he replied distractedly, “I know you’ve always wanted one.” Calista was hoping that Ron would go and show his phone to someone else. Ron however, simply wanted to study for the English test they were going to have that afternoon. Besides, iPhones were so common nowadays that it was nothing much to get excited over.

Later on, the students were discussing their answers after the test when there was a shout of dismay.

“My phone is missing!” exclaimed Calista. “Someone must have taken it!”

3. I looked down from the nest. It was a terrifying long way to the ground. I was starving but my mother still had not come back after being gone for a long time. Looking around, I realised that my siblings were all asleep.

Just as I was wondering anxiously if our mother had been attacked, a movement out of the corner of my eye caught my attention. Mother had returned but instead of dropping the food into my mouth as she usually did, she hovered above the nest. My stomach was growling and I chirped to my mother to give me some food.

Still she did not come. I wondered why she did not feed me. Unable to wait anymore, I climbed slowly out of the nest. Mother was watching me intently and finally flew closer to me. However, she remained just out of reach so I was forced to walk awkwardly along the tree branch.
