

Name: _____
Date : _____

Class Work: Study of a Model Composition

Fill in the missing parts from the list of helping phrases given to you.

Topic: A Bully

"Daddy is late again," _____ as I stood at the foyer waiting for my father's car. _____ and my classmates had already left. Even most of the teachers had left. _____. Just then, I felt _____.

_____ who had done that. However, _____ when I saw the class bully _____. He had _____. _____, hoping that someone would walk past.

When the bully realised what I was doing, _____. "There's no one around to help you. Give me all your money or _____!" he threatened.

"I've no more money," I stammered. _____. I was _____ the bully did not know that I had two hundred dollars from the class fund with me. However, before I could say anything else, he _____ until he found _____. Then, _____, he tucked the envelope under his arm and walked off.

Just then, I heard _____. I turned around to see my father waiting for me. Rushing to the car, I hurriedly told him what had happened. My father _____. After catching him, he _____ and took the bully to the general office. Fortunately, _____. He thanked my father for his help and _____ in his office.

Name: _____

_____ that I had got the money back. _____
_____, I got into the car and _____
_____. My father told me to wait near the general office for him the next time if he was late so that _____
_____.

Name: _____

Use this list of helping phrases to fill up the missing parts in the model composition.

Paragraph 1 & 2

model compo → personal work

a smirk on his face and a menacing look in his eyes someone push me roughly from behind I grumbled to myself staring at me with his hands on his hips the school was deserted I spun around to yell at the person my supplementary lesson had ended half an hour ago I glanced around me nervously my mouth clamped shut Paragraph 3 & 4grabbed my bag and dug around inside I will bash you up crossing my fingers and hoping that without another word my heart was in my throat the white envelope with the money he sniggered

Name: _____

Paragraphs 5 & 6I was relieved jumped out of the car and raced after the bully snatched the white envelope from him I would not have any more encounters with the bully the intermittent tooting of a car horn ordered the bully to wait for him thanked my father for helping to catch the bully the discipline master was still there sliding the envelope back into my bag